

THE REGENT'S SCHOOLS CHAIRMAN

gives lecture at

CAMBRIDGE UNIVERSITY

Dr. Virachai Techavijit, Chairman of The Regent's Schools, in cooperation with Cambridge University's Faculty of Education, led the Global Student Education Forum (GSEF 2011) in a lecture on "Is Education Effective in Tackling Collective Corruption?" to scholars and students at University of Cambridge, United Kingdom. In the lecture, Dr. Virachai pointed out three elements to success in tackling collective corruption. They are the government's faithful intention to educational reform, readily available effective blue prints to strengthen youth ethics and the mechanism built into the constitution to prevent a new government from destroying those blue prints.

Dr. Virachai Techavijit and Dr. Richard Higginson working together to oppose corruption

Dr. Virachai giving his lecture at Cambridge

FROM THE PAGES OF

HELLO!

January 26, 2012 p. 130

